THE HARBOUR
BAR

ESTABLISHED 1872

The Harbour Bar was established in 1872 and was bought by James O'Toole in 1932. The bar was once both a bar and undertakers, and rumour has it that it is immortalised somewhere in James Joyce's Finnegan's Wake. Joyce is one of many celebrated people who patronised the bar over its long history.

Peter O'Toole, when filming nearby in Ardmore Studios, would often drink in the bar and donated the famous moose head (a prop from Woody Allen's What's New, Pussycat?) as a gesture of gratitude to the owners for making sure he was returned in one piece to his hotel each night. Other icons that have enjoyed a drink at The Harbour Bar include Laurence Olivier, Katharine Hepburn, Bono and Brendan Behan.

The bar was voted The Best Bar in the World by Lonely Planet in 2010 and is recognised as a pub with an authentic and fun atmosphere and a passion for good music.

TAKE A WANDER THROUGH THE HARBOUR

The Lounge

The shebeen-style Lounge is the place to catch great bands onstage 5 nights a week. Take a break from dancing under the famous moose head to sample something special from the wide selection of drinks on offer at the bar.

The Bar

With traditional Irish music sessions happening Wednesday through Sunday, the Bar can get just as lively as the Lounge. The Bar has a true rustic quality that really comes alive when the music is flowing and the crowd is in full voice. Visitors to the Bar can spend many an hour investigating the various antiques and curios that crowd its walls.

The Snug

The Snug is the perfect corner to go for a quiet chat and a pint. Sitting in between the Lounge and the Bar, it's a lovely spot to soak up the charm of The Harbour Bar and get to know your fellow patrons. You'll never be short of a conversational companion in the Snug.

The Upstairs

The Upstairs is an open-plan but cosy space populated with couches and working fireplaces. Its calm atmosphere makes it an excellent venue for intimate gigs that happen on special occasions or for family get-togethers. Every so often it is transformed into a bustling market-space when The Harbour Bar hosts one of its seasonal markets. No visit to the Upstairs is complete without a tour of the famous Pope Wall.

Conservatory

Enjoy a view of the harbour from our comfy Conservatory, which regularly hosts intimate music and poetry evenings.

The Good Room

Anyone would be forgiven for thinking they'd stepped into their granny's sitting room when entering the Good Room at first. Grab a spot on the couch by the fire and enjoy a Toasted Special and tea amid the nostalgic bric-a-brac or challenge your friends with one of the many board games.

HARBOUR BAR BUYS

The Harbour Bar Pint Glass 5.00

Made from the finest transparent glass. Listen for that wonderful, tinkling clink when you 'cheers'.

The Harbour Bar Half Pint Glass 4.00
